What We're Learning:

Words to practice!

Math	Reading	Writing
This week we will be working on estimating quotients and diving with 2-digit numbers within ten to hundred thousands. We will also work on interpreting the remainder, adjusting quotients and division word problems. Social Studies We will be analyzing Valley Forge. The students will determine the cost of being a soldier during the American Revolutionary War by constructing an argument using multiple sources.	We will be finishing The miracles of spring and taking the test on Wednesday! We then will be starting a new story "A poem that will not end" by Joan Graham. We will be analyzing elements of poetry, author's purpose, and theme as we read this story! Grammar This week we will be working on R-controlled vowels and decoding our spelling words.	We are starting narratives! These students are quite creative so I'm excited to see what they want to write about! We are working on adding dialogue to their stories, using engaging verbiage, and forming a resolution to the climax within their stories.

Special Reminders

Hello! We had administration discuss with the class about respectful behavior in and out of the classroom. I will be alerting parents more frequently if your student is falling short of the expectations we agreed to! If you have concerns or questions, please reach out. I will be sending homework this upcoming week and will make an announcement when I do! We had a really good end to the week on 9/1. I was very proud of the students and we accomplished a lot. Thank you for the help at home :) Enjoy the 3-day weekend!
