Highlights from This Week!

This week in reading we read a realistic fiction story titled "Big Red Lollipop". It was a great story that tied in with our social emotional lessons about empathy.

In math, we have been learning about different strategies when adding. We've tried doubles plus one and making a 10. We talked about how they are many different strategies we can use to find the sum, and how some may work for us and others may not. We get to choose what works best for us.

Next Week
