Highlights from This Week!

In reading we read a fun fantasy titled The Great Fuzz Frenzy. The moral of the story was about kindness and the importance of having friends over things.

In math, we continued to work with three-digit numbers and knowing their values. We also started working on 10 or 100 more or less than any given number.

During our social emotional lessons, we learned about the importance of controlling our emotions. We learned what happens to our brain when “we flip our lid”! When that happens, our upstairs brain cannot communicate with our downstairs brain, and it can cause us to fight, flight, or freeze. Rather than choosing one of those we can acknowledge the feelings we are having and do some mindful breathing to help us stay calm and cool.
