Highlights from This Week!

In reading, we learned about a new genre called narrative nonfiction. It gives us facts about a topic but reads like a story.

In writing, we continued working on our I Have a Dream paragraphs! 😊

In math, we continued working on our double-digit subtraction with and without regrouping skills. This is one of the more difficult concepts to master and I am so proud of the kids for all their hard work. Keep being amazing Friendly Neighbors!!

What We're Learning

Reading Text: Cloulette

Target Skill: making connections

Phonics Skill: sounds for c and g
