In the event that a game is called due to insufficient light during an incomplete inning, the final score reverts back to the score during the previous complete inning.
- H. There will be no more than ten (10) runs per team at bat per inning or three (3) outs. A game will be called if one team is leading by ten (10) runs at the end of four (4) innings. This will apply to both the regular season and tournament play.
- I. In conference tournament play when the game is tied and over the one hour forty-five, (1:45), limit, extra innings will be played. If, in the event the game was still tied after extra innings and could not be completed that evening for whatever reason, the EVC President MUST be notified immediately. The tied teams should be prepared to travel to the tournament site the next evening to complete the game. The EVC President will make the final decision regarding completion. PASS INTERFERENCE: A 10 yard penalty will be assessed from the original line of scrimmage and an automatic first down.

NO FLAG BELT: In a case where the ball remains alive and is acquired by a player without a flag belt, the ball is down where the player gained possession.

TIE BREAKER

Regular season and tournament games that end in a tie will be resolved as follows: An untimed overtime will be played. A toss of the coin will determine who will be on offense first. The ball is placed at the 20 yard line. Each team has 4 consecutive downs. Intercepted passes will be considered live and can be returned. If the 1st team in possession scores, the other team will also gain a possession starting at the 20 yard line and receive 4 downs. If the game remains tied, each team will gain a 2nd and 3rd possession (if needed) and must attempt a two point try after touchdowns. During the regular season each team will have a maximum of three possessions of the ball during the overtime period. DURING THE PLAYOFFS possessions will continue until a team wins by score.

OFFICIATING

(10) CONTACT: The "USE OF HANDS" as described in the previously mentioned sections are the only permissible forms of contact. Officials have the right to enforce contact violations.

UN-SPORTSMAN-LIKE CONDUCT: Any un-sportsman-like conduct (spiking, throwing the ball into the air, or language that is deemed as not appropriate by a player on or off the field of play) is not allowed. This also includes parents/fans of the players that are on the sidelines. Any flagrant or un-sportsman-like actions may lead to disqualification.

PENALTY: 10 yards from the point of the infraction or 10 yards on the next possession if a score was made.

QUICK WHISTLE: If either official inadvertently blows their whistle before the ball becomes dead the following apply:

a) Behind the line of scrimmage or when the ball is in the air, the play is dead and starts over.

b) Beyond the line of scrimmage, the ball is dead where it is when the whistle is blown. The offense has a choice to replay the down or take the spot.

LOSS OF FLAGS: It will be up to the officials to determine if a receiver's flag was pulled prematurely. If so, the official may assess a penalty. Otherwise, the ball will be ruled down where the flag fell.

Tip of the Spear Revision

Tip of the Spear has been asked by CUSD to review the EVC Flag Football rule book from 2018-2019 and offer suggestions to benefit the EVC in three areas: Safety, Education & Performance.

Safety: The following revisions have been made to reduce collisions and contact to the player’s head/neck area. By increasing overall safety throughout the EVC, Tip of the Spear believes Flag Football participation will see an increase.

Education: The biggest issue Tip of the Spear noticed when reviewing the original play book was how vague the rules regarding use of hands were. The following revisions have been made to clearly define what is acceptable contact and where contact can occur on the field. Rules for contact on the line of scrimmage and in space are now more clear and not open to interpretation.

Performance: Many of the Flag Football players in the EVC will go on to play tackle football in high school. The following revisions provide players an environment to better understand the game of football. Allowing limited hand contact will better prepare them for the final evolution of the game.

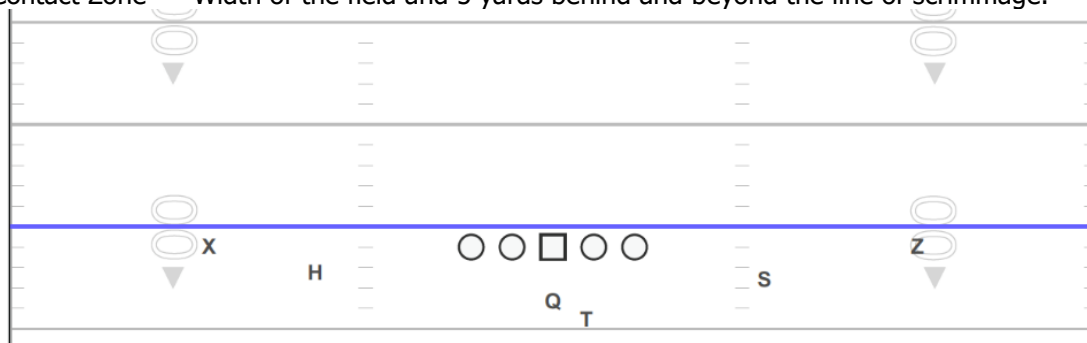

Notes

1. The phrase "players may use their hands to ward off the blockers" is very vague and speaks to only the Punt team and not what the receiving team is allowed to do with respect to the use of hands. This phrase makes the assumption that the receiving team can block but does not specify in which manner. Tip of the Spear revised this section to offer specifics and clarity for using hands on both sides of the ball during this change of possession play.
2. Rules for blocking on offense is extremely vague. Use of hands are permitted however, "No jamming (initiating a strike) with arms extended" has led to many coaches to teach blocking on the line of scrimmage to include forearm blocking, which is a safety concern because this promotes inadvertent head contact. Tip of the Spear revised this section to clearly define what contact is allowed on the line of scrimmage. Defensive players have no limitations on engaging with extended arms under the current rules, so offensive players should have the same protections available to them. Tip of the Spear instruction will offer Coaches examples on how players can play safer while using an extended arm on offense and on the line of scrimmage.

- To further clear up and define allowed contact on offense, Tip of the Spear has defined a specific "Contact Zone" where engaging in contact with the hands is permitted by both offense and defensive players. The "Contact Zone" will be limited to 5 yards beyond the line of scrimmage as well as 5 yards behind the line of scrimmage (see image below). Offensive players are permitted to engage in contact in this area with the hands only. Offensive players who engage in contact, within the "Contact Zone", may continue to use their hands beyond 5 yards until separation occurs or until the end of the play. When separation between the offensive and defensive players occur beyond the "Contact Zone", the offensive player must revert to screen blocking for the remainder of the play. This rule addition prohibits players from running beyond 5 yards and making contact with an opponent at high speeds.

"Contact Zone" = Width of the field and 5 yards behind and beyond the line of scrimmage.

- Change the wording of "Blocking Screening" to "Screen Blocking" which is the act of using one's body to screen a defender from the ball carrier beyond the "Contact Zone".
- Making specifically clear types of contact, outside the "Contact Zone", that is prohibited.
- Defensive "Use of Hands" was previously not very clear and was left open to interpretation. Tip of the Spear revised to include specifics for contact on the line of scrimmage and within the "Contact Zone". Defines permissible contact for defensive linemen during pass rush and prohibiting "bull rush" to reduce risk of injury.
- Defines allowed contact for defensive players within the "Contact Zone".
- An interception is a quick change of possession play. Eliminating blocking with the hands by the intercepting team will reduce risk of injury, especially to players unaware of the change of possession.
- Adding additional illegal contact situations, including specifics related to roughing the quarterback.
- Defining clear language for officials to rule on legal and illegal contact.

Tip of the Spear believes the above revisions to the EVC Flag Football Rule Book will help improve player safety by clearly defining the limited contact allowed. Coaches, Players & Officials will no longer be left to interpret vague contact rules. Contact and use of hands are now clearly defined and will be enforced by Officials more consistently. Coaches can confidently teach skills related to hand contact that will easily translate for players who go on to play high school football.
