CTA Humphrey Band Handbook

Mr. Luke Abrahamson – Band: abrahamson.luke@cusd80.com

Course Description

Band is open to any student who desires to learn a wind, brass or percussion instrument and read musical notation. At full CTA schools, band is offered before the school day during a 45-minute block so that students will not miss regular classroom instruction, PE, general music, or technology class. Class begins at 7:10 AM and ends at 7:55 AM. For beginners, the first band class is on at 7:10 on the morning of Monday, July 29th. For Advanced students, the first band class is at 7:10 on Tuesday, July 30th.

In class, the students will receive instruction in proper technique, posture, note and rhythm reading, tone, intonation, dynamics, and ensemble playing in a group performance setting. Band is also a class designed to help build self-esteem, cooperation, self-motivation, and life skills through the study of your chosen instrument. Band, like any other subject in school needs reinforcement. Students are expected to take instruments home on a regular basis to practice the skills and techniques learned in class. As a reminder, Band is a year-long commitment.

* for details on the Behaviors That Promote Learning (BPTL), please visit the class website.

Content and Skills Grading

Playing Tests and In-Class Observation – 70%

- Students in band are required to demonstrate their growth and proficiency through a variety of methods. Students are monitored for progress throughout the year on a general basis in class, however students will be required to demonstrate their skill to me at least once per quarter through formal playing assessments. Playing assessments will be done through the Smartmusic online platform, or in person as needed.
- Students who do not demonstrate proficiency through their playing tests are offered targeted suggestions for improvement, and given more chances to re-submit their performance after further practice. Feedback will always be positive and encouraging for the students!

Written Quizzes – 30%

- Students will be asked to complete short quizzes and formative assessments throughout the year as a means of monitoring progress in areas of music literacy, technique, musical vocabulary, and other standards-based areas.

Behavior and Participation Grading

Participation – 40%

- Bring instrument to every band class. After three class periods of not having instrument, the student will be issued a band participation/behavior reflection form to complete and their grade will go down one letter grade for the quarter. Please use the band calendar in your binder to keep track of when you need your instrument.
- Bring classroom materials every day, including book and pencils
- Demonstrating regular consistent practice routines through the Smartmusic platform. Students should be averaging about 10-15 minutes of practice per night, or around 50-90 minutes of practice per week.
- Come to class with a positive attitude, ready to learn and give your best effort.
- Attendance: Be in assigned seat with instrument, book, and pencil out, ready to play by the time the setup timer has expired.
- Be personally responsible for your setup (chair, stand, instrument) and cleanup each class.

Concerts/Performances – 40%

- Concerts make up such a high percentage of the student's grade due to the fact that band is a group activity. An absence from a performance affects the whole group. In addition, students work extremely hard bringing musical pieces up to a performance standard. For this reason, they deserve a chance to display their efforts and talents.
- If it is not possible for the student to perform in the concert, contact from a parent/guardian in advance is required in order for the student to be given a make-up excuse. In order for a student to be considered excused, it needs to be regarding family emergencies, illness, acts of God, etc... Failure to plan is not an excusable reason. Students are given calendar dates the first week of school in order to plan accordingly.
- In cases such as emergencies or sudden illness where prior notification is impossible, a parent or guardian must contact Mr. Abrahamson as soon as possible. The student will be given one week after the concert to turn in the assignment.

Behavior – 20%

- Students are expected to treat all members of our groups with respect, kindness, and fairness.
- All school rules will be enforced per the student handbook and CUSD guidelines.
- Bullying – CUSD has a zero tolerance policy for bullying.
- Excessive talking during class, or playing an instrument out of turn to intentionally disrupt a lessons is taken seriously. Students who are choosing to cause disruptions in rehearsal will be warned and redirected in class. Students who do not correct their behavior will be issued a reflection form and lose points from their behavior grade.
- Students can earn back points for their behavior grade by demonstrating excellent behavior in the future.

Smartmusic

Smartmusic is an online platform that provides a powerful array of tools and resources for music students. Each student will create their own free Smartmusic account and will use Smartmusic to guide their practice at home. As a teacher, I will be able to monitor student practice as well as assess student progress through playing tests. Smartmusic requires the use of a laptop, desktop or Chromebook computer with a microphone. Smartmusic also has an app for the iPad. Students who do not have access to these forms of technology will be required to complete paper practice records instead and will be given the option of completing playing tests in person with me. For more information on Smartmusic, including instructions and videos demonstrating its use and how to set up an account, please visit our band website and click on the “Smartmusic” link on the left side of the page.

Band Belts and Awards

Each quarter, band students will have the opportunity to earn a “belt” (ribbon) by demonstrating their progress and proficiency on their instrument.

- Similar to the traditional karate belt system, the band belt system is designed to encourage and motivate students to grow and learn and to develop a sense of pride from those who have met the challenges of learning and instrument.
- Any student that fails to pass a playing test will be given the opportunity to continue their practice and re-test until they earn their belt.
- In addition to the belts, students will also be able to earn special Musicianship, Leadership and Perseverance pins by accomplishing various activities and tasks such as volunteering, attending concerts, performing solos, collaborating with peers, etc...
- Students who earn their belts on time each quarter will be treated to a party with Mr. Abrahamson. 6th graders who end their year with the Black Belt will earn a special reward party!

For Parents:

Contacting Me: As a traveling teacher the best form of communication with me is via email. My email address is abrahamson.luke@cusd80.com

Staying in Touch With You: I will generally use two methods to keep in touch with parents throughout the year. Most often, I will stay in touch with parents using the Remind app. This allows me to send quick info, including attachments and links, in the form of a text to your phone. I will also be using the messaging feature within Infinite Campus (please make sure your email is up to date), as an extra measure for reaching everyone.

Signing up for REMIND: In order to receive regular information about your child’s band class, please sign up for the REMIND app. Detailed directions are available on our website, however you can easily sign up by finding your child’s class, and texting the corresponding code.

Obtaining an instrument:

- I would highly encourage you to rent your instruments through any local music store. It might seem enticing to buy a cheap instrument from an online retailer, but often times these instruments are of poor quality and can break often. If they do not break or have problems, the students often struggle to play them because of their poor build quality.
- The best way to find a shop to rent from is by talking to friends and neighbors, or by using your favorite search engine via the internet and search for local instrument rentals.
- CUSD Instruments: We never want money to be the reason a student cannot play an instrument. If you are experiencing financial hardship, CUSD has an instrument rental program. There is a small fee at the beginning of the year, if you qualify and are selected your student can use a district instrument for the whole year.
 - If you are interested in a low cost CUSD instrument, CUSD rental information is due to Mr. Abrahamson before the end of class on Friday, July 26th. No exceptions. Applications will be sent home on Wednesday, July 23rd. Please email Mr. Abrahamson if you need an extra copy.

Make an investment!

- Please be involved in your child’s learning. Just like any of the other courses your student’s take in the classroom, concepts taught must be reinforced via activity in the classroom and homework at home. The same applies for learning an instrument. Learning to play a musical instrument is challenging at times, and your child will need encouragement and insistence from you to push past the hard work. I expect students to practice on average somewhere between 60 and 90 minutes per week. Practice is monitored through Smartmusic.
- Make practice fun! Be involved with their practice; make it fun by having your student perform mini impromptu concerts for you, where they can play a song they learned in class that day.
